

Submission to an OrigamiUSA Publication

Origami instructions and origami figures are protected by copyright law in the U.S. and around the world. OrigamiUSA is committed to honoring the rights of the artists. In order for us to teach origami figures, distribute diagrams, publish instructional materials, or even display photographs or other images of folded works, we must obtain permission from both the artist who created the figure and the diagrammer (if different from the creator). We must also obtain permission for the form of publication: oral teaching, publication of printed diagrams, and/or video, CD, web, or other electronic publication. By filling out this form, you can submit content for potential publication and give permission for any possible use. Please fill out this page for each piece of content you wish to submit. If you have any questions about the process, please read our list of Frequently Asked Questions on the website.

Permissions

By checking each box below, you authorize OrigamiUSA to use your content in the indicated publication(s) and/or for teaching. Check all that apply.

Publications: *

- The Origami Collection (convention book)
- The Paper (print magazine)
- The Fold (online magazine)
- Elsewhere on the OrigamiUSA website

Teaching:

- I give OrigamiUSA permission to teach my content
- I give OrigamiUSA permission to distributed printed copies of my content

OrigamiUSA volunteers often teach origami models at events including Special Folding Fun Sessions and the Annual Convention. We teach models only if we have permission from both the creator and the diagrammer. Folders often request diagrams for the models we teach. We distribute diagrams only if we have permission from both the creator and the diagrammer.

Additional permissions:

Feel free to express any other information associated with your permissions in this space.

Authorization

By submitting this form, you are affirming that either (1) you are the sole rightsowner for the submitted work, or (2) you are the authorized representative of all parties who have rights in the submitted work. You hereby grant OrigamiUSA the above permissions while retaining copyright ownership of your content.

Submitter: *

- I am the rightsowner
- I am submitting this information on behalf of the rightsowner, whose direct contact information is given in this box.
